

SONOMA COUNTRY DAY SCHOOL

Sonoma Country Day School has worked with Doug Hilberman and AXIA Architects on a number of projects at our school. Sonoma Country Day School is a private, independent elementary school located in northern Santa Rosa and serving students in grades K-8. Most recently, Doug and his team helped us to develop and adopt a long-term Campus Master Plan, which was in support of our school Strategic Plan. Earlier projects included design solutions for our entry procession and renovations of our outdoor learning spaces.

Doug and his team have been tremendous partners. We found them to be great at listening to a wide range of constituents and integrating their input into cohesive, comprehensive, and creative plans. Doug is highly receptive to feedback and actively seeks it as a way of ensuring that their solutions have met our needs. He understands the decision making processes of nonprofits and schools and is able to navigate employee, parent, and trustee interactions with ease and professionalism.

I strongly recommend Doug Hilberman and AXIA Architects without hesitation. Doug will be the first person we contact when we are considering additional projects of this nature. I am happy to answer any questions regarding his work for our school.

Sincerely,

Brad Weaver, Ed.D
